Location

Situated on a sand mound in the middle of the desert, approximately half an hour from Rohet Garh and close to the Wilderness Camp, "Mihir Garh" literally means the Sun Fortress. West of the village of Khandi, it is one of India's first luxury edge-of-desert resorts and is surrounded by scrub farmland. It has 360 views and the night skies are alive with extraordinary planetary activity and seem to be only a stone's throw away. Above all Mihir Garh provides a haven of desert comfort, offering more than 1700 square feet of private space, including private terraces to sleep under the stars, plunge pools and private courtyards, and amenities of a very high standard. The idea is to give people a genuine 'desert experience' whilst being opulent and different. It is fabulous for riding, picnics and excursions and camel safaris. It is constructed out of wattle, mud and wood and has a wonderful rustic look whilst being supremely comfortable. The Rohet family are amongst the best and keenest horsemen in Rajasthan and boast some of the finest horses in their stables. The outdoors really comes indoors here!
